PROCUREMENT OPPORTUNITIES

AMPHITHEATER

AGENCY: REVENUE AUTHORITY

SERVICES DESIRED: ARCHITECTURE & ENGINEERING

PROJECT DESCRIPTION:

Prince George's County seeks to establish a destination outdoor amphitheater to support live music events. The County is preparing to issue a request for proposals for Architecture & Engineering (A&E) services through the design and construction phases of the amphitheater.

Prince George's County underwent a feasibility and site analysis for the proposed amphitheater. After narrowing down options based on transit accessibility, regional accessibility, existing parking infrastructure, Opportunity Zones, catalytic growth potential, and alignment with County priorities, the County selected a site in the Largo area as the most viable option for the amphitheater. The site is centrally located in the County, with easy access to the Beltway and WMATA Blue/Silver line. It also benefits from high visibility due to its adjacency to a WMATA station.

The feasibility study resulted in a concept plan and test fit that should inform the final design. The program envisions an outdoor venue with an approximate capacity of 5,500-6,000, with both fixed seating covered by a roof as well as lawn area for additional attendees; covered stage and back-of-house facilities; sound and lighting infrastructure; supporting facilities including concession stands, bathrooms, VIP lounge area, and a box office.

PARTNERSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

PUBLIC ART PARTICIPATION & SUPPORT

AGENCY: ARTS & HUMANITIES COUNCIL

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

The County encourages developers to include public art in their projects. PGAHC's Public Art Developer Program allows opportunity for partnerships with developers in a variety of ways. The Program can provide support to advise on public art planning during the project approval phase, or curatorial direction during the commissioning phase. It can also provide planning, curatorial and project management services. These services are generally provided on a fee-for-service basis.

ELIGIBILITY

What Projects Should Include Public Art?

Broadly, large-scale mixed-use, commercial and residential developments are the best types of land use to consider for public art. This is especially true of developments that are part of mixed-use or commercial districts and areas that encourage walkability, such as the County's designated downtowns, "town center" developments, and campus areas.

Public art should also be considered in any project that involves the redevelopment of County land by private developers. If RFPs are issued for the redevelopment of County property, proposers should be expected to include a statement or rendering of public art intent.

M-NCPPC ZONING REWRITE

Proposed New Zone Comparison Map

Use the map below to determine the proposed new zone for your property.

HOW DOES THE ZONING REWRITE

The updated Zoning Ordinance and Subdivision Regulations provide numerous tools intended to achieve modern 21st Century development and are significant improvements over the County's existing regulations, which have become less effective with the passage of time.

The new Zoning Ordinance and Subdivision Regulations were adopted by the County Council on October 23, 2018, and the ongoing Countywide Map Amendment (CMA) to change the County's zoning to the new zones started on July 23, 2019. The CMA will resume in late summer 2021 as the County emerges from the Covid-19 emergency and may be approved in the winter. Once the CMA is approved, the new Zoning Ordinance and Subdivision Regulations will take effect.

PRINCE GEORGE'S ARTS AND HUMANITIES COUNCIL

TOOLS AND PROGRAMS

PUBLIC ART DEVELOPER PROGRAM

The County encourages developers to include public art in their projects. PGAHC's Public Art Developer Program allows opportunity for partnerships with developers in a variety of ways. The Program can provide support to advise on public art planning during the project approval phase, or curatorial direction during the commissioning phase. It can also provide planning, curatorial and project management services. These services are generally provided on a fee-for-service basis.

What Projects Should Include Public Art:

Broadly, large-scale mixed-use, commercial and residential developments are the best types of land use to consider for public art. This is especially true of developments that are part of mixed-use or commercial districts and areas that encourage walkability, such as the County's designated downtowns, "town center" developments, and campus areas.

Public art should also be considered in any project that involves the redevelopment of County land by private developers. If RFPs are issued for the redevelopment of County property, proposers should be expected to include a statement or rendering of public art intent.

PUBLIC ART APPRENTICESHIP PROGRAM

The Public Art Apprenticeship Program will provide a ladder of advancement for young creative workers and emerging professional artists. It will couple them with a variety of partners on projects that not only support their career and creative growth but also create sustainable, beautiful and safe physical environments in the County.

How to Become a Project Partner:

PGAHC invites developers, local governments, public agencies, and non-profit organizations as Project Partners to propose projects that can be implemented through the Public Art Apprenticeship Program. Projects could include murals, mural restorations, small to large public art or placemaking initiatives, graphic design, photography or media projects.
